

Hi wombats!

Welcome to Issue 32 of the A+ Bee! Your number one source for cute girls, tarot readings and songs about single women in the 2000s. I hope your December is treating you well so far! Now tuck in with a cup of tea and let's get beedy.

December Member of the Month: Meredith

What is your AS username?

My AS username is Mer (not very creative!)

What is your favorite bad joke?

Q: What kind of noise annoys an oyster?

A: A noisy noise annoys an oyster!

What movie is in your top 5 that is probably not in anyone else's?

Hmmm, normally people like at least a few of the movies I'm into. Although I think a weird one that most people wouldn't give a spot in their top five would be Galaxy Quest. I just love that movie! Whenever I'm having a bad day I will actually yell "whoever wrote this episode should die!", and then I feel a little better haha.

Knight of Wands
(Laughing Eye, Weeping Eye Tarot)

Look at you, fancy pants! So many ideas, so many plans - the energy is just streaming off you as you go galloping along. Right now, you don't know what's next and frankly you don't give a damn, all that matters is movement. Just be sure to check in with the folks who love you - they don't want to slow you down, they just care.

If you had to hang a life size oil painting of someone above your bed, who would it be?

Probably Charlize Theron, I would happily gaze at her face forever.

What is your favorite thing about Autostraddle?

The community!!! Seriously, I have so many wonderful friends who I've made through AS. Seeing their cute and funny comments, or reading their incredible articles, and knowing that they are my friends makes me so happy. No Filter is also the best though.

ATTENTION

Solution:

11 lucky bastards saw Fun Home and 19 saw Hamilton. The jerks.

CHOOSE YOUR OWN GAY-DVENTURE

You've chosen the screwdriver and upon being placed in your hand, it began to glow the brightest blue before emitting a light that seemed to twist and turn around the cavernous halls of the storage unit you're in. You begin to follow the light around the paper turkeys and fallen leaves that are tumbling from the shelves around you. There's a giant santa in the distance, teetering softly in the light breeze.

Suddenly, the light flickers and diverges into two directions to choose from - there's a pathway to the left that leads towards a towering manor made of menorahs and a pathway to the right that is lined with gumdrops, leading to a massive gingerbread home adorned with candy cane stained glass windows.

Which pathway do you choose?

- + Menorah Manor
- + Gingerbread house

The Cincy Straddlers' book club read "The Price of Salt" this month! We are preparing in excitement for the release of "Carol," which was filmed in Cincinnati (we're excited to look for places we know). Some of us were cheering for Carol and Therese, some of us wished Therese hadn't remained single and done her own thing- and mostly it remains a mystery to us why this book was ever titled "The Price of Salt." We also talked a lot about the time period and how much things have changed since the 50's, and whether it was really a thing to hire a private investigator to prove your wife's lesbianism... In any case, we're super excited to be moving on and reading "Fun Home" for December!
